

Julie Danskin
Independent Executive Senior Sales Director

After reaching the top of my career, I became restless and began to seek a new challenge. A co-worker of mine was a Mary Kay Independent Beauty Consultant, and I always admired the designer clothes she wore and the beautiful jewelry she earned through her Mary Kay business. She was having so much fun, and I wanted to be a part of that. My name is Julie Danskin, and I am an Independent Executive Senior Sales Director.

When I made a decision to quit my full-time job, I was a bit nervous at first, but the marketing plan gave me the confidence I needed to give it a try. Suddenly, all of my earnings weren't going toward child care expenses – I was the master of my own destiny and earned the use of my first Career Car. I have two children, and my business success allows me to travel with my family, wear the designer clothes I love and treat myself to a manicure and a massage every week.

To me, the Mary Kay opportunity is not about what you accomplish; it's about the person you become. I love spending time with my Mary Kay girlfriends, providing my family with the quality of life they deserve and watching the women I mentor purchase their own dream homes. I feel a sense of pride knowing that the skills I have attained working my Mary Kay business will help make me valuable in other things I decide to do. I consider myself lucky to be part of such a rewarding opportunity.
